Tiny dancers

Beginning with the basics, a group of young children participated in a dance class offered by the Romulus Recreation Department last week. Class begins with a period of stretching followed by some simple steps. Leading the class was instructor Beth Basner (above) with Amanda Brewington, 4, Falcia Drobil, 5, Rachel Coate, 2, Carissa Drobil, 3 and Miranda Adkinson, 2. Man is charged in father's death, mother's beating

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A 29-year-old Romulus man has been charged with first-degree murder in the beating death of his father.

James Curtis was arraigned in the 34th District Court in Romulus Monday afternoon, charged with beating Walter Curtis, 62, to death.

Curtis also is charged with assault with intent to murder for the beating of his mother, Alta, 62.

As of Tuesday morning, Alta Curtis was listed in critical condition at the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

James Curtis is being held in Wayne County Jail without bond. He is scheduled for a preliminary examination Jan. 17.

Romulus police officials said they were called to the Curtis home on the 31000 block of Ecorse at 5:55 a.m. Sunday. The caller, Curtis, informed police of a murder and a break-in.

At the scene, police officers discovered Walter and Alta Curtis in a bedroom. Walter Curtis was pronounced dead on the scene.

Alta Curtis was severely beaten and unconscious. She was transported to the Westland Medical Center and later transferred to the University of Michigan Medical Center.

James Curtis was arrested at his parents' home after being interviewed by police officials.

Police said Curtis was wearing a tether device at the time of the beatings.

A tether is an electronic device worn like a bracelet. Law enforcement officials can use the tether to monitor the location of the wearer. If the wearer goes beyond an approved area, the tether "warns" monitoring officials.

Curtis was wearing the device because of a 1988 conviction of carrying a concealed weapon in a vehicle, police said.

If he is found guilty of first-degree murder, Curtis faces a mandatory life sentence in prison.

Local firefighter dies in car wreck

Volunteer firefighter and father of three, Noel Douglas Wilhide, was killed Dec. 28 in a Dearborn automobile accident.

Wilhide, 37, was driving west on Oakwood Boulevard when he was struck broadside by a car heading south on Southfield Road, according to Dearborn police reports.

The driver that struck Wilhide reportedly ran a red light, police said.

A military style funeral service was staged for Wilhide Jan. 2.

Fire Chief William Greenslaid said Wilhide had served the fire department 13 years. His father, John, was once a Romulus fire chief, and his brother, Mark, is currently a volunteer firefighter.

Greenslaid said Wilhide recently had completed a course on fire pump operation on his own time. Wilhide had planned to teach what he learned to other Romulus firefighters.

"A very active person, not only in the fire department but in the community," Greenslaid said.

Wilhide was a licensed emergency medical technician and often was on duty during Romulus Football Flyer games, according to his brother Mark.

Additional activities include parent-teacher organizations for his children's schools and membership in the Romulus Goodfellow.

Members of Romulus City Council Jan. 3 approved a resolution in honor of Wilhide and his contributions to the community.

Wilhide is survived by his wife, Verlie, and three daughters, Jessica, Melanie and Sarah.

Facility will receive 6-year tax abatement

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Developers promising to bring 20 new jobs into the community were granted a six-year tax abatement by city council Monday night.

Representatives from Horizon Screw Products Inc. intend to construct a facility for the manufacturing of precision screw machines and cold form products.

They requested the abatement for equipment they value at $2.67 million.

Horizon, located on Northline Road, already has a Romulus facility and has been operating in the city since 1975.

Mayor Beverly McAnally recommended council grant the six-year abatement.

"The small businessman is the, often overlooked, important contributor to the economic health and stability of the community," she wrote. "The dilemma faced by our community, and its manufacturers, is that foreign markets, due to cheap labor, are giving stiff competition to American business. At the same time, surcharges and quotas on cheaper raw materials increase the cost of doing business in this country and the small manufacturer finds himself at a severe competitive disadvantage."

In addition to the abatement, McAnally recommended if the final project cost is 10 percent less than estimated, the city would have the option to revoke the abatement certificate.

Matthew Raftery, director of assessment, explained the impact of the abatement.

County puts price tag on city request for school speed limit

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

City councilmembers Monday night were informed their request to Wayne County for a safety crossing near Cory Elementary School may be expensive.

County officials listed six steps the community must take before 25 mph speed limit signs will be posted on Wayne Road near the school.

The city must provide the county with documentation on the number of students that walk along Wayne Road to get to Cory and the time of day they walk.

The city must install approach sidewalks on Wayne Road before the county will paint crossing lines.

To improve safety, a crossing guard must be assigned to the crossing area.

A formal request for signs must come from the school superintendent.

After the above items are completed, the county will install flashing school signs, but the city must pay for installation and maintenance of the flashers.

Local police officers will be responsible for enforcing the speed limit.

"According to Mr. (Mike) Rushlow (Wayne County Department of Traffic), study after study has proven that less than 10 percent of the motorists actually observe the reduced speed limit," said City Clerk Linda Choate as she listed the requirements to council.

The request for a reduced speed limit in front of Cory school came after the county refused to reduce the speed limit in front of Romulus Senior High School. That building is south of Cory along Wayne Road.

County officials claimed they only approve reduced speed limits in front of elementary schools.

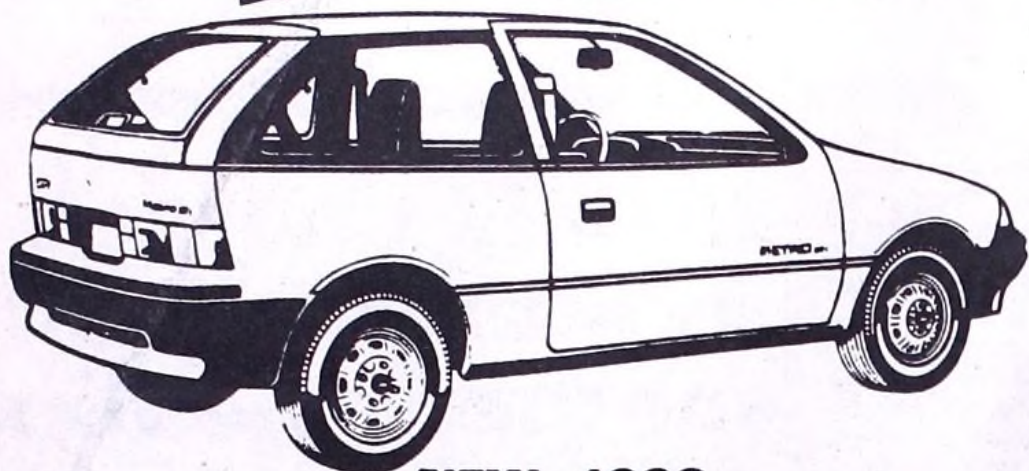

Faced with the current list of requirements, councilmembers decided Monday to investigate the costs involved before moving forward.

"I feel like this is a retaliation from them (county officials) to us because we asked for a speed limit in front of the high school where the danger really is," said Councilmember Ellis Pennington.

Councilmembers also intend to contact the Romulus Board of Education for their input.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Official city newspaper is chosen

The Romulus Roman was approved by city council last week as the official newspaper for the city of Romulus.

As official newspaper, The Romulus Roman will continue to publish legal notices, including city council minutes.

The Romulus Roman is part of the Associated Newspapers chain which includes The Belleville Enterprise, The Westland Eagle, The Wayne Eagle, The Canton Eagle and The Inkster Ledger-Star.

Church dinner helps toddler

Plans are nearly complete for "Operation Jessica," a special dinner planned to raise money for a little girl's kidney operation.

The meal will be served at 5:30 p.m. Jan 13 at the Romulus Church of God, 8770 S. Wayne Road.

Those who attend can donate as much as they want for the meal. Food has already been offered by local residents and church members.

All proceeds will go toward surgery for Jessica O'Conner, 4, daughter of former Romulus residents Marcy and Jim O'Conner.

For more information, call the church at 729-4884 or Jessica's grandmother, Mary Wosley at 942-8817.

Scouts stage cookie kick-off

More than 500 people were expected to attend a Girl Scout rally Tuesday evening designed to kick-off Girl Scout cookie season.

Staged at the Romulus Senior High School auditorium, the event featured local troops performing cheers for the audience. Acting as judges, members of the high school cheerleading squad were to select the best cheer.

The rally was coordinated by Sue Farrar and Marilyn Young.

City commissions have new members

Joan Coaltrain recently was appointed to the Romulus Recreation Commission.

The 22-year resident replaces Thomas Williams, who resigned from the commission.

City Council also approved the appointment of Fred Anderson to the Police, Fire and Safety Commission.

City applies for federal grant

The City of Romulus is applying for a federal grant to obtain several types of emergency management equipment.

One grant application is for emergency battery-operated lights for city hall, which is considered an emergency operation center.

The approximate cost is $5,000 for the lights and installation in the upper and lower levels of city hall, according to Margaret LeDuc, emergency management coordinator for Romulus.

A second grant application is for an emergency generator for the Romulus Public Safety Department which includes the police and fire dispatching service.

Cost for the generator is expected to be $50,000.

The final grant is for a warning siren for the city.

"The city of Romulus has developed an aggressive plan to be able to warn the community of impending danger. The city is currently using four sirens that are radio-activated at the public safety dispatch center. The emergency management office has been working with West Shore Services to develop a long range outdoor siren service. The plan identified the need for 10 sirens that are either to add or upgrade the existing sirens," LeDuc said.

The cost is $27,000 for one electronic siren, accompanying equipment and installation.

Each of the grant applications calls for a 50 percent match by the city.

Enduring love

Couple says compassion is key to 60 years of marriage

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

When Myrtle and Clinton McNett were wed, the Roaring '20s had just departed with a jolt, leaving the country in the midst of the Great Depression.

Myrtle said she and Clinton simply could not afford the luxury of a wedding portrait.

Today, however, the Romulus couple can show off portraits from their 40th, 50th and 60th wedding anniversaries. The most recent celebration was to have been in November.

It was delayed somewhat when Myrtle was hospitalized for several weeks, but her illness did not overshadow the triumph of 60 years of marriage.

The McNetts now are back in their Hannan Road home - the house Clinton built himself more than 45 years ago.

Shelves in nearly every room in the house are covered with Myrtle's collectibles - salt and pepper shakers, music boxes and porcelain knickknacks.

Competing for attention on the walls are pictures of the family. Myrtle proudly listed four sons, 15 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

The success of her marriage and family, she said, comes from constant effort.

"You've just got to talk a lot, be understanding, compassionate. Be pals."

Clinton said the secret to a good marriage is simple.

"Just get along, that's all."

The McNetts agreed that in an age of frequent divorce a marriage of 60 years is a true accomplishment.

"Most divorces are stupid," Myrtle said. "Think what you saw in the marriage, what you saw in each other in the beginning," she advised.

When Myrtle and Clinton met, each of them had recently moved to Michigan. Myrtle grew up in Indiana, and Clinton was reared in South Dakota. Their first meeting was by chance.

Clinton had stopped by to give Myrtle's brother-in-law a ride to work one day when Myrtle was there for a visit.

Eventually, the romance blossomed.

The first 10 years of the McNett's marriage was spent in Inkster, Garden City and Ohio. They moved to Romulus 50 years ago, and five years later Clinton built their current house.

Clinton recalled clearing the land himself before building could begin. Hannan, a dirt road in the section near their home, was so bumpy it was known as the "wash board."

"Our oldest kids went to a one-room school house on Barth Road," Myrtle said.

Life over the years has been relatively peaceful, she added.

"We haven't argued very much. Arguments don't get you very far. We believe in marriage and in sticking with it though thick and thin."

Auto accident leaves 2 dead

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Two women are dead, and two men are seriously injured following a car crash at Middlebelt Road in Romulus early Sunday morning.

Killed in the accident were Beverly Melissa Granberry, 22, of Inkster, and Andrea Marie Hunter, 27, of Taylor.

The driver, Paul Anthony Granberry, 25, of Inkster, was reported in serious condition at the University of Michigan Medical Center along with passenger Earl Davis, 25, of Muskegon.

Police reports indicate Granberry was driving southbound along Middlebelt Road north of Northline Road at the time of the accident.

Granberry, who was driving a 1980 two-door Chevrolet, lost control of the vehicle, drove into a guard rail and struck a cement abutment, police officials said.

Upon impact, two of the passengers were thrown from the car onto the shoulder of the road. Police officials could not indicate whether the drivers thrown from the car were the ones with fatal injuries.

Immediately after the accident, Paul Granberry and Davis were transported to Heritage Hospital in Taylor. From there, the men were transported to the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

This case remains under investigation, police officials said.

Financing OK'd for downtown development

A funding system for several proposed downtown improvement programs recently was approved by city officials.

Improvements under consideration for the downtown area include increased parking areas, the widening of Goddard Road, an improved separation of residential and business areas, landscaping and continued development of the Romulus Historic Park.

Members of the Romulus Downtown Development Authority have discussed plans to use tax increment financing to fund these improvements.

During the recent public hearing, authority members proposed using this system to pay for improvements at a senior citizen housing complex planned for Wayne Road at Goddard Road.

Negotiations set for council secretary post

Romulus City Council and the mayor are negotiating on who has the power to appoint a council secretary.

The controversy began last month when councilmembers challenged the decision of Mayor Beverly McAnally not to reappoint council secretary Mary Collins.

During a regular meeting, Councilmember Jimmie Raspberry said he wanted McAnally to rehire Collins.

He said a city ordinance and two state Attorney General decisions state the council secretary is under council jurisdiction.

Raspberry received support from Councilmember Noah Bergeron.

McAnally said the city charter gives her the power to appoint - or not appoint - city employees, including the council secretary.

After lengthy discussion and debate at recent council meetings, councilmembers agreed to schedule a conference with McAnally to discuss their concerns.

Although Myrtle and Clinton McNett's (above) 60th wedding anniversary fell in November, the celebration was delayed due to a brief hospital stay for Myrtle. She said her room was crammed with visiting grandchildren and great-grandchildren. "I thought I died and went to heaven," she said laughing. Myrtle and Clinton said a successful marriage relies on compassion, communication and just plain "getting along." ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Project

In past years, he said, the company has received two tax abatements from the city.

The property site for the new development currently generates a total of $13,431 in taxes per year with an overall savings of $71,635, he said.

Equipment for the new development could generate up to $14,511 to the city, the assessor continued. Abated, the equipment would generate approximately $7,255.

In addition to approving the Horizon abatement Monday night, city council took the first step to offering a similar service to another developer.

Council approved an industrial development district for Header Products. Development sites must be within such a district before an abatement can be requested.

Header Products, 11850 Wayne Road, is already established as a manufacturing facility. Company representatives plan to construct an addition, retaining 20 to 25 existing jobs and creating as many as 10 new positions.

The addition will join two separate company buildings, one facing Wayne Road and the other facing Grant Road.

"Without this addition, our broaching operation would have to be moved to our Rose City plant which would delete approximately 20 to 25 employees from our Romulus payroll," said Michael McManus, president.

Both the tax abatement and the industrial development district received unanimous support from council.

Clash breaks out after city meeting

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A dispute between an Inkster political activist and a councilmember about whether the councilmember has the right to sit on the housing commission, erupted into a physical confrontation after the regular city council meeting.

Councilman Stephen Berry, 75, and Joel Briggs, 63, exchanged words and punches in the lobby of the Inkster Recreation Complex after the Jan. 3 council proceeding.

The men were separated by Inkster police officers, but not until Berry sustained a blow to the forehead and Briggs to the body. The two men also exchanged obscenities before Police Officer Charles Hines separated them.

Neither man required medical attention. And no charges have been filed, according to police reports.

Also, Berry and Briggs, long-time political foes, refused to comment on the altercation.

During the past year, Briggs has criticized Berry for his performance on the Inkster Housing Commission. He reportedly believes that Berry has not done enough to bring federal grants to the city.

During the council meeting, Briggs challenged councilmembers, specifically Berry, for not applying for certain grants. Briggs said he and officials from the Inkster chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have investigated the grant and found that they are available.

Berry pointed out that the city has made application for those grants, and is waiting for a response.

Briggs suggested Berry step down as a member of the housing commission because "there is a conflict of interest when a councilmember is also on the housing commission."

Berry replied that the Michigan attorney general has ruled there is no conflict. He said during the past there were no funds available for housing, and that during the Ronald Reagan years most funding for such projects were eliminated.

"You're a liar," Briggs countered.

Berry replied that Briggs should contact the attorney general if he didn't believe him.

After the meeting, the Rev. Larry Hines, president of the NAACP approached Berry, and the two began to walk out of the council chambers together. At the doorway, they were joined by Briggs. Berry and Briggs then began arguing in a loud and disruptive manner as two members of the Inkster auxiliary police circled.

What triggered the physical violence, according to witnesses, was a string of obscenities.

Poster contest focuses on drugs

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Children throughout the Romulus School District soon will be encouraged to portray their image of substance abuse and possible ways to battle it through posters.

Eventually, one of these posters will be used to represent the "Build a Bridge to the Future" program, a year-long series of student and resident activities to promote drug prevention.

Students from kindergarten through sixth grade may participate in the contest.

"We're going to ask students to express their thoughts on substance abuse," said Sandra Langley, program coordinator. "How would you say no, how would they define legal and illegal substances, what is their view of the problem?"

Posters will be judged within each of the district elementary schools, and the winners will have their work displayed in city hall.

Judges include Mayor Beverly McAnally; Dr. Al Goldberg of the Wayne County Intermediate School District; Kenneth Berlenn, Romulus School Board president; and Doug Plant, director of substance abuse treatment at the Romulus Help Center.

Judging is tentatively scheduled for the end of January, but planning for the contest is not complete.

Also under consideration is a cable television show featuring each of the winning poster artists.

"All of the winners would come in and talk about their posters," Langley said.

Participating students would need parental permission, Langley added.

The poster contest is one of several projects in the works for Build a Bridge. Langley said the program was started to educate residents about the resources available in the community to battle substance abuse, including student education programs, peer counseling, a help center and police programs.

Ideally, Build a Bridge will enlist the efforts of students, parents, teachers, local officials and business people, Langley said.

"We need commitment from the entire community, not just the schools."

Additional Build a Bridge activities include a trip to Lansing for parents. Participants will attend a meeting about substance abuse.

A rally is planned for the spring to wrap up the program for the year and review the accomplishments of the participants.

Romulus youth visit

Florida Navy base

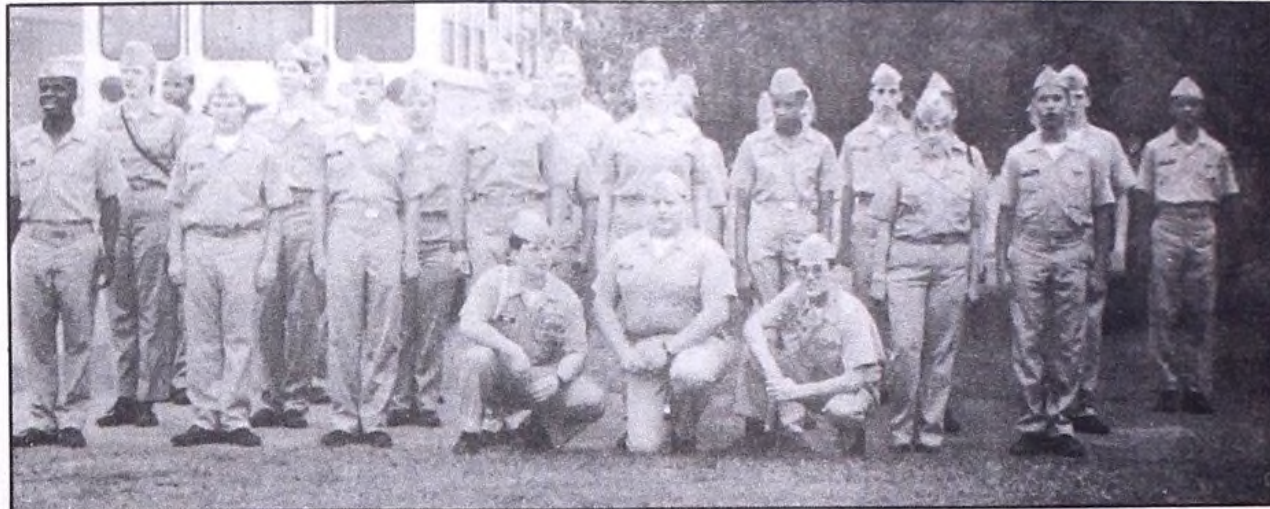

This fall, 27 student cadets of the Romulus Senior High School NJROTC were presented with a real-life military experience.

The cadets visited the Naval Air Station in Florida for an indoctrination field trip which focused on aviation.

Led by Cadet Lieutenant Kenneth W. Banks, the group departed Selfridge Air National Guard Base aboard a Navy C-9 aircraft on Nov. 27, returning home Nov. 30.

While visiting the air station, cadets flew aircraft simulators, trained at the land and sea survival areas on base, visited the Naval Aviation Museum, and went to Alabama to view Battleship Park and the battleship Alabama and submarine Drum.

Girl Scouts begin cookie drive

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Now that the holidays are over, many foolishly assume dieting is safe again. Another temptation is on the horizon, though. Girl Scout cookie season is here. By January, most troops are planning their sell strategies, but they will take advance orders Jan. 12 through 28 at $2 a box. Deliveries are in March. Cookie selections this year are lemon pastry cremes, Caramel Delites, peanut butter patties, Thin Mints and peanut butter sandwich. A newcomer, the Golden Yangle, is a cheddar cheese cracker. During this time of year, Girl Scout troops select a cookie mom. This person undergoes training about safe sales techniques and shares the information with the troop. "We only go to houses of people we know," explained Helen Sowards-Emmerd, 11, of Westland Junior Troop 294. Because the scouts are discouraged from selling door-to-door, they rely on friends and family. "I have a big family so I usually get a lot of cookies," said Melissa Jennings, 8, Westland Brownie Troop 708. To encourage good results, the girls are offered rewards. All scouts who sell cookies are given a small patch. A larger patch is offered to those who sell 50 boxes. Anyone who sells 100 boxes receives a special bar for the uniform. From that point, rewards are T-shirts, stuffed animals and backpacks. The ultimate reward is a free two-week stay at Girl Scout camp for selling 1,000 boxes of cookies. While they are selling the cookies, the scouts also work on a marketing badge. Requirements for the badge are based on the age of the scout. All Girl Scouts sell cookies except the youngest group, the Daisies. The reason cookie sales receive so much emphasis because the proceeds are important to sustaining the groups. The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, which serves more than 9,800 girls in four counties, relies on the sale for 57 percent of its operating budget. Most of the money goes toward camping trips and camp maintenance. "Another thing we use the money for is to buy supplies for the troop," said Amy Sayre, 9, Westland Brownie Troop 707. Cookie money also goes toward field trips for the scouts. Westland scouts have visited Greenfield Village, a local animal hospital, a hayride and a cider mill. "I don't think there could be Girl Scout Council without the cookies," said Janet Sowards, assistant junior scout leader. For information about cookie orders, call 1-800- 552-4929.

New group is formed

The group was formed to provide a local voice for township in the Michigan Township Association. Intent of the WCTOA is to provide a forum for discussion and dissemination of information for townships and their officials and to serve as a means of influencing other political bodies and agencies for the benefit of the townships. Meetings are slated in January, April, September and November, with the last meeting of the year scheuled as the annual meeting.

AIDS, child care to top agenda, Beard says

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

The disease AIDS became a top issue in the 1980s and should continue to be a key issue for Wayne County in the '90s, according to Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster).

"One of the negative developments (from the AIDS problem) was the sale of Wayne County General Hospital," Beard said. "It doesn't allow us to properly care for people who need care."

The hospital was sold four

One of the negative developments (from the AIDS problem) was the sale of Wayne County General Hospital.

— Kay Beard
Wayne County Commissioner

years ago to a consortium of hospitals that included Oakwood Hospital and Garden City Osteopathic.

"We're going to see more and more that that was a mistake,"

Beard said. "As AIDS continues to grow, and I think there's no question it's going to continue to grow in Wayne County because of the high (intravenous) drug abuse we have, the people with AIDS who don't have support systems, like the gay males did, become extremely indigent. And we're going to have to have some place to care for them."

One of the best things to happen to Wayne County in the decade, according to Beard, was the adoption of a home rule charter that created the independently-elected position of county executive.

That change, and subsequent amendments eliminating the independent road commission and drain commissioner, greatly improved the efficiency of Wayne County government, she said.

"Prior to the elimination of both of those as being separate, and not under control of general county government, there were times when the two were working against each other and didn't even realize it," Beard said.

One of her hopes for the '90s is greater cooperation between the state and the county on the issue of child care.

Currently, there is a cap on how much the state will pay for child care programs. After the cap is exceeded, she said, the county has to pay 100 percent of the costs.

With the increase in juvenile offenses, especially drug offenses, the county is becoming more involved in child care issues.

"It's exploding in our ability to keep pace," Beard said.

The other key issue Beard cited for the '90s is how to deal with solid waste.

"We all have to be concerned about solid waste and the kinds of trash that we're handling," she said. "Probably this kind of situation is not going to be properly resolved until the federal government sets some standards nationwide."

Schools net grants

By PAMELA LANDIS
ANP News Editor

The Wayne County Intermediate School District recently received two state grants to improve its art and math and science education.

The state Department of Education awarded the district $25,000 to establish a regional arts support center, said Phyllis Robinson, director of the center for school and community outreach.

"The idea is to have a centralized place where leadership in the arts can develop," she said.

The program will allow four teachers in visual arts, music, drama and dance to help school districts in Wayne County strengthen their arts program, she said.

The program also will use the resources of other private art groups in the county to provide help to the schools, she said.

The state Department of Education awarded another $25,000 to the county district for its efforts in math and science education.

Wayne County will establish a math/science advisory council to develop an action plan to establish the learning center for gifted children.

The center also will coordinate math and science programs for all students and help establish partnerships with business, local education officials said.

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

As the nation pauses to commemorate the birthday of slain civil rights leader and Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Luther King, local members of the NAACP say that the void left by King's assassination remains unfilled.

Dr. King, gunned down as he stood on the balcony of the Lorraine Motel in Memphis on April 5, 1968, would have been 61 years old on Jan. 15.

By an act of Congress, Dr. King's birthday has been declared a national holiday.

The symbol of the nonviolent civil rights movement in the 60's, Dr. King preached nonviolence and racial brotherhood.

"That brotherhood is yet to be reached," said Rev. Larry Hines, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "Yes, black people have won some battles, but the war for equal social and economic status in this country is yet to be gained by blacks."

"In fact, in recent years, because of the Reagan Administration and the Supreme Court, we are progressively going backward."

Hines says "that the challenges of the 1990s remain the same as those of the 1960s, that is, of opportunities for blacks both socially and economically. The homeless need housing; the jobless need jobs - and the majority of those who are out of jobs and without homes are the blacks of America."

James Netter, secretary of the local NAACP chapter, pointed out that, although Rev. Jesse Jackson has stepped in and has become the acknowledged spokesman for civil rights, "we would have to look to Africa for the real leaders of the movement."

Nobel Prize winner Archbishop Desmond Tutu and Nelson Mandela, the imprisoned leader of the African National Congress, have become the international symbols for the civil and human rights movements, according to Netter.

"The races are not talking to each other here in America," Netter said, "and when they do it's only a superficial relationship. One of the reasons is that whites are fearful that the subject of slavery will appear in the dialogue, and they know they have no defense for that, so they try to avoid blacks whenever they can."

Dr. Terrell LeCesne, assistant superintendent of Romulus schools, says that students have a better understanding of the races than adults.

"Students, and kids in general, have a better understanding of the races than did their parents. They accept each other for what they are; most are color blind."

"Moreover I do not see the racial disharmony in the hallways of our schools that has been reflected in some of the other parts of the state and the country."

Dr. LeCesne added that "although Dr. King's dream remains a dream, and, though there has been some retrogression during the Reagan years in the form of overt racism on part of the Supreme Court, the challenge for blacks - and whites - is to make King's legacy a reality."

Most schools and organizations have scheduled special programs in celebration and commemoration of Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday.

The Inkster Christians in Action - Big Brothers/Big Sisters Outreach Ministry - will present a tribute to Dr. King at 7 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 13 at Inkster High School, 3250 Middlebelt Road, one block south of Michigan Ave.

The program consists of a communitywide gospel musical which features the Smith Chapel Inspirational Choir, The Douglas Singers, The Hayes Sisters, Voices of Cathedral and others.

PREPARING
CHILD'S EXAM

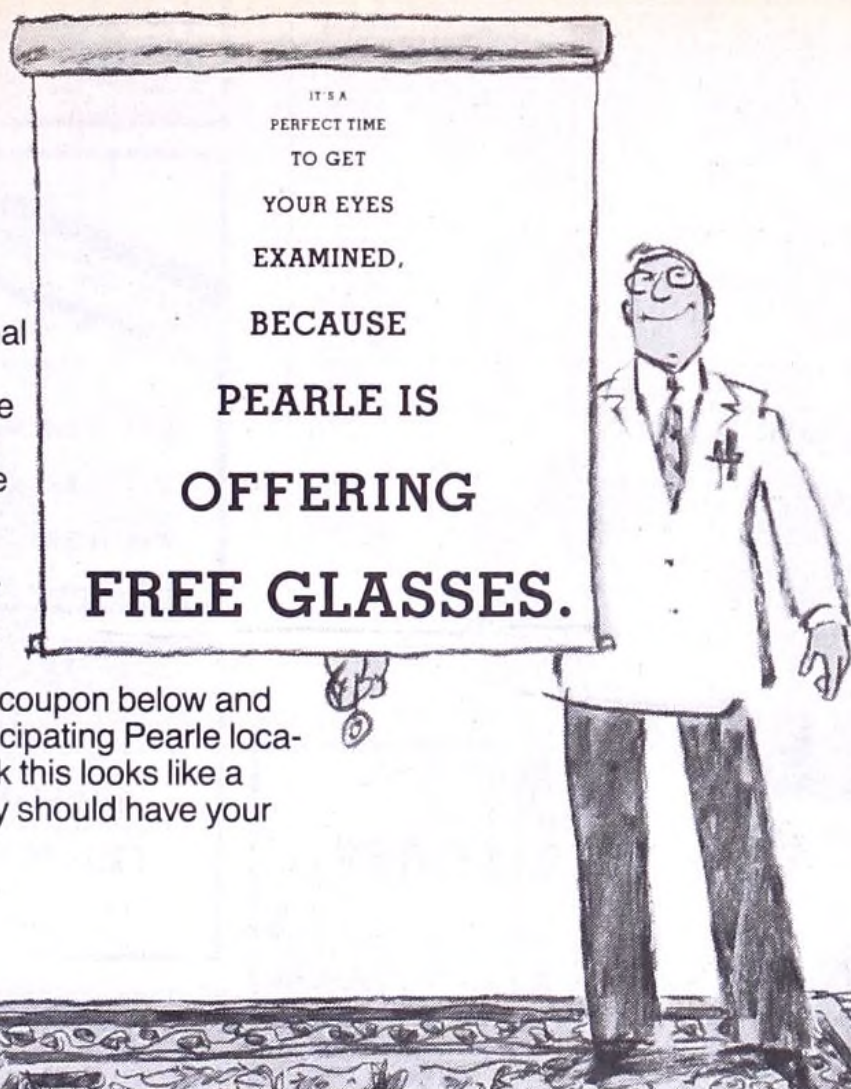

It's not difficult for a parent to prepare a child for a visit to the dentist. First, set a good example for regular care of the teeth. Let the child watch you brush and floss your teeth and explain that this is what we do to keep the teeth healthy. If you have a dental appointment of your own, talk about it in positive, cheerful terms. When the time comes for the child's dental examination, explain that the dentist will look at the teeth to see if they are coming in straight, will count how many have already come in, and maybe will "take pictures" with a special camera, (x-ray machine). Even though the child's first teeth are temporary, it is important that they remain healthy so the child can chew easily and learn to speak properly. Problems that develop in primary teeth can affect the health or alignment of permanent teeth when they come in. Early and regular dental examinations of the primary teeth are the foundation for a lifetime of good health for teeth and gums.

Bugged by
'no-show' band

I know I'm a little late in writing, but I would like to write on an issue which has bugged me since the Christmas parade.

First of all I have pride for Belleville. I've lived here all my life.

Taking my four children to the parade, I was appalled to find no Belleville high band. We support them when they come door-to-door. What about them supporting us? What happened?

Second, Belleville fire department purchased a new fire truck. What did Santa ride – a Van Buren truck!

I would have liked to see Santa riding our "city's pride."

Thank you still for a beautiful parade. I'm not the only one who noticed the band and Santa. The lady next to me was as mad.

Earth efforts appreciated

A resounding thank you and well done from the League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novi to the Meijer stores. The firm's Earth Friendly campaign is yet another sign of its social responsibility.

Long before environmentalism became a popular issue, long before governments began to act, Meijer was encouraging its customers to recycle by providing the facilities for them to do so. Now, its product labels of environmentally benign products, signs, brochures and videos for schools will provide the kinds of information and timely reminders consumers need if we and our children are to make the least possible impact on our already overstressed earth. That we are also saving tax dollars by slowing the filling of landfills is a practical bonus.

The League of Women Voters has developed an environmental position and appreciates all efforts to support it. Our special thanks to the two Meijer stores in our area.

The purpose of the League of Women Voters is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. The policy of the League is to study and act on government issues and policies in the public interest. It does not support or oppose any political party or any candidate.

Tax bill is tallied

Have you paid your 1989 property taxes yet?

When you do, take a long look at the breakdown on your tax statement.

If you live in Westland, you will find that: The city gets 9.90 percent; Wayne County gets 9.40 percent; Debt retirement/economic development gets .56 percent; police/fire pensions get 2.44 percent; Central Wayne County Sanitation gets 4.21 percent; Wayne County new jail gets 1.34 percent; Huron Clinton Metro Authority gets .32 percent; drainage gets 2.23 percent; local lighting gets 1.67 percent; Wayne County Intermediate Schools/special education gets 2.80 percent; Wayne County Community College gets 1.34 percent; and Wayne-Westland Community Schools gets 63.79 percent.

Isn't it strange that the schools get all that money from your property taxes, and yet they always want more?

What is more strange is that the superintendent's contract has already been approved through August 31, 1992. It calls for a base salary of $81,249 on Sept. 1, 1988 with a four-percent increase each September 1 thereafter. It calls for an additional three percent merit increase per year if he receives an "average" grade on his March 1 evaluation each year. It further calls for an annual nine-percent of base salary car allowance, $300 per month expense account, $1,500 annual longevity stipend, and a golden parachute of 20 percent payout if the contract is severed for any reason. On Feb. 8, 1990 this totals $105,000-plus and all the other fringe benefits afforded employees of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

What is more strange yet is that all of the contracts for the other administrators – those of

School priorities should be addressed

Last week's feature article (in the Romulus Roman) "School Leader Looks to '90s" was interesting – but shocking! Our illustrious leader apparently has some priorities that need to be challenged!

• "We could be one of the wealthiest districts in the state." – Is this really what this is all about? Whatever happened to academic excellence – reading, writing and arithmetic? Isn't the literacy problem higher ranking in priority than our "wealth status"? It would have been much more impressive had he said "Our graduating students will be the best-equipped in the state to address their problems and to improve the conditions of the society in which they live."

• Improving the curricula of our school does not necessarily mean pumping more money into the system. It means reviewing the content of the textbooks to assure that the daily-living principles being inculcated into the minds of our students are those which promote the achievement of a high standard of excellence; worthy motivation; and a healthy respect for legitimate authority and a healthy understanding of acceptable behavior patterns. Expensive computers cannot accomplish this!

• I agree that education techniques need to be reviewed – but what does he mean by "traditional methods"? Since the revolutionary "see and say" method was introduced, reading and spelling skills have plummeted at an unheard of rate, and illiteracy statistics alarmed the entire nation. Testing standards were lowered so there would be fewer failures. In fact, a solution to the problem was even proposed – that the word "literacy" be redefined so more kids could pass! "Technical aspects of reading such as spelling are learned along the way..." Mr. Bedell's area of expertise is obviously in the financial arena. Kids, however, will just hate reading more, watch more TV, and play Atari games. That does not solve any problems – it creates larger ones.

Yes, solutions are available.

Inkster coasted to a third straight Suburban Athletic Conference victory last night at the expense of natural rival Robichaud, 70-41. Tyron Orr tossed in 26 points for the Vikings and Claude McReynolds added 19. Robichaud, winless in 7 starts, was led by Tyrone Wheatley who had 10. Inkster cage machine rolls

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With Claude McReynolds pumping in a career-high 30 points and Tyron Orr chipping in 19, Inkster's cage machine rolled to a 77-58 victory over Ecorse. It was the Vikings' second straight Suburban Athletic Conference win against no losses of the season. Coach George Thompson's machine had a rough time starting as it stalled the first eight minutes and allowed the Red Raiders to bolt ahead 20-11. However, with McReynolds scoring nine of his 30 points and Thompson tightening the screws to the defense, Inkster outscored their hosts 28-6 in the second period and ran up a 39-26 advantage at intermission. "We missed some easy shots in that first period and dug ourselves a hole," Thompson later said. "However, we managed to dig ourselves out of it thanks to some sharpshooting by Claude (McReynolds)." The Vikings also received some valuable help from Orr, who sank 10 of his 19 and Michael Herrington, who contributed seven of his eight points in that turnaround period. Thompson, who is trying every gimmick he knows to get a bit more output from his Vikings at the free throw line, wasn't successful again. Inkster cashed in on 10 of 22 foul opportunities as compared to Ecorse's 13 of 22. One major reason why Ecorse managed to make a game of it against the Vikings was due to Lewis Raymond's outstanding performance. Raymond tossed in 10 field goals, four of which were from 3-point range, and also connected on all eight of his free throws for a game-high 32 points.

George Thompson, Jr.

The victory also evened up the Vikings' overall record at 3-3. Inkster clashed with natural rival, Robichaud, Tuesday night, and will travel to River Rouge on Friday for their fourth SAC game of the season.

Belleville is runner-up at Salem invitational

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Sparked by senior Derek Reed's sterling performance, Belleville finished second at the 17-team Plymouth Salem Wrestling Invitational, staged on Saturday. Reed, an All-Area grappler as a junior, captured a gold medal in the 112-pound class as he pinned Dan Bonnet, of Salem, in 1:50 of the championship round. A state qualifier a year ago, Reed has compiled an impressive 15-1 record thus far this season. "He (Reed) did an outstanding job," said Belleville coach Gerald Malecek. "This was a tough tournament. And Salem just has an awesome team this year. In fact, they are in our team district, and I believe that they are going to be one tough team to beat over there." Salem dominated their invitational team final standings. The Rocks piled up 198 points for their first-place trophy. The hosts were followed by second-place finishing Belleville (125.5), Novi (117), Westland John Glenn (108.5), Ypsilanti (105), Riverview (98.5), Portage Central (97), Mt. Clemens (80.5), Portage Northern (77), Jenison (70.5), Plymouth Canton (62),

North Farmington (59.5), Ann Arbor Pioneer (42) and Garden City (37). Belleville came away from Salem with seven other medalists. The Tigers boasted two second-place finishers in Steve Davis (119) and Michael Braswell (171). They were third with Chris Williams (140), and fifth with Jeff Komaromi (189), Mike Komaromi (160) and Sean Zaborowski (145). Billy Yuh as contributed a sixth place in the 130-pound category. To get to the championship round, Reed destroyed Ypsi's Mike Hasey, 21-2, turned back Bill Copeland of Stevenson, 1:47, and erased

Where's defense? Highland Park jolts Romulus, 62-44

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A "complete breakdown" in the second half, and defense - the lack of it - led to Romulus' demise at Highland Park, and the Eagles' third basketball on-the-road setback of the 1989-90 campaign. Rallying to a 25-23 advantage at halftime, after trailing 15-13 at the end of the first period, Coach Chris Molloy and his Eagles ran into serious trouble in the form of missed shots and the inability to break the Parkers' press. The combination opened the door to a 62-44 non-conference loss. Molly said he was frustrated by the loss because, "in all of the previously played games we have games this year, we showed some improvement. However, not in this one. We fell back a couple of notches with this one. "And, after playing our best defense (second period), we looked sloppy in that second half, noted the first-year coach." Romulus held Highland Park to a mere eight points for the entire second quarter. But the hosts retaliated and came back to outscore the Eagles 21-9 after the intermission and managed to take a 10-point lead into the final quarter. Molloy also was slapped with his first technical foul of his career after disputing an official's call. "I have been in coaching for 12 years, and this is the first one (foul) I have been called for," Molloy said. Romulus, which has been averaging 70 points per game, failed to get even close as none of the Eagles broke into the double figure

Disappointed Eagles 'look bad' at Oscoda

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Disappointed. That's how Romulus High girls' volleyball coach Gail Coleman summed up her sentiments on the Eagles' performance at the Oscoda Invitational. The tournament, involving six teams, was staged Saturday. Romulus managed to win only one of its matches at the round-robin invitational which brought teams together from Tawas, Whitmore, Oscoda, Pinconning, Onaway and Saginaw Nouvel. The Eagles defeated Onaway, but lost to Nouvel and Pinconning. They split with their three other rivals. "I was very disappointed over our performances at the invitational," said Coleman whose club returned to action locally Monday night. The Eagles were to play South Central Conference rival, Ann Arbor Pioneer. "I don't know what it was but we just couldn't get untracked up there," Coleman continued. "And, basically, it was our defense. We're going to have another look at what we're doing. "Definitely, there has to be some changes and improvements if we are to win the rest of the way." Coleman didn't believe, she said, that the long trip to the eastern section of the state had anything to do with the poor team effort. Oscoda is about 200 miles north of Romulus. "I will say this, that it was good experience for our players to compete in this tournament. However, winning only one of six matches isn't what I thought we would do." The defending Romulus Roman Invitational champ, the Eagles have another road trip on Saturday. They will play in the Carlson Invitational. "But, if we don't work out a few bugs we have on defense, that, too, could be a long day," the Eagles' coach said.

Huron board to discuss suspended coach status

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The Huron Board of Education and Dr. Gary Jackson, superintendent of schools, were scheduled to meet last night to discuss the fate of suspended varsity basketball coach Larry Swick. Swick, an eight-year veteran of coaching at the New Boston high school, was suspended by the board, in December after he refused to reinstate four players he had disciplined. Two parents of the disciplined players had complained to the board that they believed the penalty meted out to their kids was unwarranted. Although neither side said they wished to comment on the suspension, Swick's suspension was to be terminated on Jan. 10. "Now that the suspension is over, now what?" asked Swick in a telephone interview. "I can't answer that question. I know the board and the superintendent are scheduled to meet to discuss my status. So, I am waiting the outcome of that meeting. "All I have told them is that I was doing my job. If there isn't discipline, then you don't have a team. And I'll stand by what I did."

In the meantime, assistant coach Terry Suemnick has taken charge of the varsity club. Suemnick is a former All-Area cager and a graduate of Huron. The Chiefs launched the 1990 phase of the season last Tuesday against a strong Woodhaven team and lost a 77-44 decision. The Chiefs couldn't stop 6-8 center Vern Crump, who staked Woodhaven to a 22-9 first period lead thanks to the rugged forwards' 12 points. Huron was never a serious threat after the initial period as the Chiefs trailed by 20 (41-21) at half. They were outscored 16-9 and 20-14 in the final two periods. Huron returned to conference play on Friday and, despite a better showing, fell to Monroe Catholic Central, 58-43. It was Huron's fourth straight loss in the conference and they're now at 1-5 for the season. Although the Chiefs trailed 19-8 at the end of the first period, they managed a comeback as forward Craig Poet orchestrated a 18-9 second period with eight of his 13 points. Huron led the Huron Conference co-leaders, 27-26 at intermission. The lead was short-lived however. Monroe, sparked by some excellent outside shooting from Jeff Riggs and Paul Payne, rallied to a 15-6 third quarter edge and led 43-32 for three, before wrapping up the victory. "If we came out flat against Woodhaven," said Suemnick, "I felt that we played a better game Friday night. We showed some improvement against a good team." Matt Holtan joined Poet in the double scoring column.

At the Palace Flint Beecher spoils Inkster cage debut

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was the first ever high school basketball game in the Palace of Auburn Hills.

And the honor of making the historic debuts were given to none other than Inkster High and Flint Beecher.

Beecher, coming off of a stunning victory over No. 1 ranked Class B state power, Saginaw Buena Vista, held off the Vikings of Inkster, 58-48, last Thursday before a full-house in the stadium built for the Detroit Pistons.

"It was a good game," said assistant coach Coach Spencer Grant, who substituted for veteran coach George Thompson, Jr. Thompson missed the game to attend a funeral of an aunt. "I felt we missed too many percentage shots, and our performance at the foul line contributed to our downfall."

The game was decided at the foul line. The Vikings put through only two of 11 fouls as compared to Beecher's 15 of 26

My only request was that, if possible, all the kids should play. Playing in the Palace is a most valuable experience, something that will stay with the kids the rest of their lives.

Inkster basketball coach effort. The Vikings outscored their rivals 22-17 from the field.

With Tyron Orr and Claude McReynolds providing the scoring power for Inkster, the Vikings managed to stay with Beecher for the first eight minutes. They trailed 15-14 at the end of the quarter, however, Carl Shields and Bill Ellison began finding the range, and before the two clubs left the floor, Beecher had gained a 32-24 edge at halftime. They went on to increase that advantage by eight, 50-32, for three periods before the Vikings launched their counteroffensive.

With Beecher deciding to use the stall to thwart off the Viking rebellion, Inkster outscored the winners 15-5 in the stretch, but couldn't overcome the 16-point deficit.

Orr, who hit on nine field goals, two of them three-pointers, wound up with individual scoring honors with 20. Teammate McReynolds was close by with 19. Beecher received 16 points from Shields and 14 from Ellison.

Thompson was pleased with his team and his assistant.

"Grant did an excellent job against an excellent team," Thompson later said. "My only direction to Grant was that I asked him to play all of the team members, if possible. "After all, playing in the Palace is a great experience which will probably stay with the kids the rest of their lives."

The loss dipped Inkster's record to 2-3 on the year. The Vikings will try to improve their 1-0 Suburban Athletic Conference record at Ecorse Friday night. They will return to the home court Tuesday to face none other than natural rival, Robichaud.

scoring column. Larry Perkins, who had three field goals and one of two at the free throw line had seven points.

The scoring dilemma also is reflected by the Eagles' performance at the foul line where they made 15 of 23. They were outscored by the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champs, 26-13, from the field.

Bob Gibson led the Parkers' assault on the Romulus defenses as he connected on nine field goals for a game-high 18 points. Teammate Terry Howard added 15.

Romulus will return to the friendlier home court this week. They were scheduled to play New Boston Huron Tuesday night and will clash with South Central Conference and state-ranked Ann Arbor Huron on Friday.

The Eagles have won all of their four games at home (but have dropped all of their three games on the road.).

"We're still looking for our first road victory," Molloy said. "Obviously, we're happy to be home this week. We need a morale booster."

Voids cost Romulus wrestling title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Voids in three weight classes may have cost Romulus High the 1990 Birmingham Brother

Rice Invitational Wrestling championship.

Coach Norm Butler send his troops into battle without a 125 and a heavyweight, while 130-pounder Tim Kosikowski remains on the injury list.

Despite the absence of manpower in those weight classes, the Eagles managed to finish second to the host at the tournament. Romulus was edged by the Warriors, 32-30, after Butler's grapplers turned back Hazel Park, Troy Athens and Schwartz Creek.

Romulus 119-pounder David Gehringer won all four of his matches to pad his overall record to 11-2 on the season. Teammate Bruce Boyd, who also chalked up four victories, is now 12-1 on the year as a 135-pounder.

However, Brian Farnan, who went into the invitational with an undefeated record, suffered his first setback at the hands of Rice's Chris Snooks, who captured the gold in the 152-pound class with a 7-4 victory over the Romulus wrestler.

Farnan is now 11-1 after his first loss.

Romulus was back in action last night. The Eagles were involved in a quad dual with Ypsilanti, Monroe and Westland John Glenn supplying the competition.

Butler's team will place their Lincoln Park Invitational crown on the block when the 20-team tourney is conducted on Saturday at the downriver high school.

Back to live action

One of the reasons why defending champ, Belleville, is 3-0 in the Wolverine 'A' Conference this season is due to the outstanding efforts by senior forward Ron Hunter (44), seen here going up for two points against Romulus. Coach Michael Garland will take his show to Monroe Friday night as the conference title race heats up. The Trojans have been a perennial thorn in the Tigers' side. Game time is 7:30 p.m. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Brantley keeps on shining

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Maurice Brantley, the 6-6 point-guard who led the Tigers of Belleville to their first Wolverine 'A' Conference basketball championship a year ago, continues to shine on the court in college.

Brantley, a full-ride athletic scholarship recipient to Xavier of Ohio, is scoring at a 15.3 clip in the first three games for Xavier.

A freshman with outstanding credentials, Brantley earned all-state and all-area consideration as a senior last year.

"He's an outstanding athlete with a lot of potential," said former coach Michael Garland of Belleville.

Brantley is one of a score of former prep stars who are playing collegiate ball this season.

Along with Terry Mills, who led Romulus to a Class A state championship four years ago and is presently a dominant figure on the University of Michigan team, there are Mills' former teammates Billy Johnson, Juan Street, and Belleville's Al Tilman.

Johnson, a southpaw who is a junior guard at Bowling Green, has a 12.4 scoring average for his first seven games; while Street also appeared in six games for Bowling Green and has a 2.7 scoring average.

Tilman, a sophomore wearing a Texas-San Antonio uniform this season, has played in four games. He is a forward.

Wayne Memorial's Rich Simoneau from its paths in 3:35.

"Derek has proven he is a wrestler to be contended with in his weight class," Malecek noted.

Davis lost his gold medal and was forced to settle for a silver when he lost a 7-2 decision to Jon Butler, of Portage Central. Butler was named the invitational's Most Outstanding Wrestler. Braswell, also an All-Area nominee a year ago, was nosed out from a gold by Glenn's Craig Kuban, who was awarded a 5-4 victory over the Tiger grappler.

Belleville will return to the Wolverine 'A' Conference battlefield tonight at 7:30 p.m. when Malecek and the Tigers clash with title-hopeful Trenton.

Trenton could wind up as the next conference champ if Belleville doesn't stop the opportunistic Trojans, according to Malecek.

"Trenton is tougher than nails. They have won two good tournaments this year, and I believe if we are to successfully defend our title, then we must stop them," Malecek said.

Belleville takes a 2-0 conference and an impeccable 5-0 dual meet record into the dual meet with Trenton, which is also undefeated in dual competition this season.

Luxury sedan is named 1990 car of the year

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Automotive Writer

All hail the new king... The Ford Motor Co. Lincoln Town Car was named Motor Trend Car of the Year by the Motor Trend editors at a press conference last week at the North American International Auto Show in Detroit.

The honor marks the first time in 38 years the award has gone to a four-door luxury sedan.

Ford products have captured the coveted honor four of the last five years. In 1986, the Taurus LX won the award, followed by the Thunderbird in 1987. The Thunderbird SC was honored in 1989.

The Town Car "is a performer true to its character and (the world is) watching the curtain go up on a genuine new star," Motor Trend editors said. "Its aerodynamic bodywork design retains a number of traditional styling cues, but these classical overtones are integrated into contemporarily contoured sheet metal definitely in step with the '90s."

The judges also cited the upgraded handling and road feel, exceptional noise and vibration control characteristics, comfortably designed passenger seating and the largest trunk space of any car in its class as other areas in which the Lincoln excelled in topping the competition.

Joe Sesi, general manager of Sesi Lincoln Mercury in Ypsilanti, said the award reinforces what buyers already know about the Lincoln Town Car - it's a finely built automobile.

"We're very excited about the award. We think it will really build momentum for the spring," Sesi said.

The supply problem that has plagued dealerships seems to be ironed out, Sesi said. He has about 20 Town Cars in stock.

The other nominees in the hotly-contested award competition were the Buick Reatta Convertible, Buick Regal Four-Door Sedan, Chevrolet

The Lincoln Town Car was named last week as the Motor Trend Car of the Year. Lumina, Oldsmobile Trofeo, Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme Four-Door Sedan and the Pontiac Grand Prix Four-Door Sedan.

Motor Trend editors put each nominee through a grueling, week-long workout, including a slalom course and tests of acceleration and braking.

The cars also were evaluated in a combination of stop-and-go traffic, open freeways and twisting mountain road conditions.

The nine categories in which the cars were judged were styling and design, quality control, comfort and convenience, ride and drive characteristics, chassis dynamics, acceleration, handling, dollar value and fuel economy.

"Once you've seen and driven Town Car, it's easy to understand why we're so excited about it for 1990," said Ross H. Roberts, Ford Motor Company vice president and Lincoln-Mercury Division general manager.

Manufacturers base price for the Lincoln Town Car Signature series and Cartier design range from $27,986 to $32,809, not including options or destination and delivery charges.

Local supplier nets award

Romulus-based Edgewood Tool & Manufacturing Co. recently received Chrysler Motors highest supplier performance award, PENTASTAR, for excellence in areas of quality, price, delivery and technology.

Edgewood is an automotive parts supplier of hinges, latches, exhaust brackets and other body hardware.

"Our goal is to be the best team to supply products to the automotive industry. We believe that everything we do can be improved upon. Nothing less than world competitive skills are what it will take to be a successful automotive parts supplier in the '90s," Edgewood President James Lozelle said.

Just a bit of normality, now

Just Desserts

Sue Willett

Here it is, the ides of January and the ghost of holidays past are still hanging around making life miserable. Mostly, this spirit of festivities and good cheer is hanging around the middles of those of us who overindulged a bit during this time of celebration. Bah, humbug.

The weather is adding to the cantankerous state of mind of most normal people these days, too. It's cold, nasty, rainy, snowy, wet, dark, damp and cold. And that's on the good days. By February, crankiness will be the norm and downright nasty will be the usual demeanor of most people.

There is a cure. After years and years of strenuous research, it has been proven (to me, anyway) that the only cure for these wintertime, post-holiday doldrums is great desserts packed with lots of sugar and calories. Chocolate if you can get it.

This is the only formula known to man which will ward off these terrible moods and provide the necessary increase in blood sugar. While all this research may be completely unscientific, I had a great time doing it, even though the results are strikingly obvious when I try to cram my derriere into a size 6. Undaunted, however, I have persevered, trying every recipe I can find to help in my quest for the betterment of mankind.

Who am I trying to kid, here? Chocolate and sweets are the mainstay of my diet. Without them, I would perish. A diet to me means cutting out everything but the desserts. Now this is not recommended for anyone other than a nutritional lunatic such as myself. And, several physicians have suggested it could be the cause of my problems rather than the cure. But hey, what do they know, they're only doctors. The arrival of normality is something awaited by most everyone with great anticipation. I cringe at every remaining Christmas decoration and avoid the 50-percent off holiday merchandise sales. I mean, really, who wants to buy a velveteen painting of Santa's last supper even if it is discounted by half?

It's time for going home and relaxing with a good book, having dinner on time for a change in your own home and sleeping more than four hours a night. It's time for a regular, normal life with some basic routine.

Anyway, I think it is. Having waited this long to experience such a schedule, I'm almost ready to give up. Pass the brownies.

Crunchy fudge sandwiches

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels
1/4 cup peanut butter
4 cups Rice Krispies cereal
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate chips
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons butter, softened
1 tablespoon water

In large saucepan, melt butterscotch-flavored morsels and peanut butter over very low heat, stirring constantly until smooth. Stir in cereal. Press half the mixture in a buttered 8x8x2-inch pan. Chill. Set remaining mixture aside. Melt over hot (not boiling) water, the semi-sweet chocolate chips, sugar, butter and water, stirring constantly until smooth. Spread over chilled cereal mixture. Spread remaining cereal mixture evenly over the top. Press in gently. Chill until firm, about 1 hour. Cut into squares to serve.

What a bunch of nuts

Local firm offers toppings for your recipes

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

They add crunch to muffins and cookies, texture to salads and breads and a dash of the exotic to chicken dinners.

Nuts add pizzazz to cooking.

Besides that nuts do not add empty calories to the recipes they highlight. They add nutritional value, said Michael Millington, co-owner of C & R Nut & Candy Co. Inc. in Westland.

"They're loaded with protein," Millington said, adding that nuts also contain B vitamins, fiber, potassium and zinc.

What nuts do not contain are high amounts of cholesterol or sodium, he said.

Although salted nuts tend to be popular, C & R cut back on salting to meet the demand of health-conscious consumers.

"More than 55 percent of Americans have been told to cut back on salt," Millington said of the reasoning for using less salt.

Still a handful of warm cashews hardly seems like a nutritional no-no. Instead, they create a feeling of indulgence.

"There's nothing like fresh, roasted nuts," Millington said.

Millington said peanuts originated in South America with Inca tribes.

Today, the number one use for peanuts is peanut oil, he said.

"Peanut oil is pure, and it has a high rate of burning."

With all nuts, pistachios to filberts, the only limit to their use is the cook's imagination. Millington suggested using them in cakes, pastries, soup, salads, gelatin molds, casseroles, milk shakes, hot vegetable dishes and gravy.

When a recipe calls for a chopped nut without specifying which kind, Millington suggests peanuts or pecans.

Both have neutral flavors and blend well with other ingredients. Walnuts offer good texture but have a stronger, bitter taste, he said.

To back up his suggestions, Millington offered a stack of nut recipes, ranging from the traditional peanut brittle to a peanut butter milkshake.

Dixie peanut brittle

Stove top:
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup light corn syrup

1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 cups raw, shelled Spanish peanuts
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons baking soda

Heat sugar, syrup, water and salt to a rolling boil in a heavy saucepan. Add peanuts. Reduce heat to medium. Stir mixture constantly. Cook to 293 degrees or until syrup spins a thread. Stir in butter. Add baking soda and beat rapidly. Pour out onto a buttered surface (cookie sheet, marble slab, large casserole dish) spreading to approximately 1/4 inch thickness. When cool, break into pieces. Store in airtight container. Makes 2 1/2 pounds.

Chicken oriental

2 pounds diced chicken breasts bones removed
1/4 cup peanut oil
1 can sliced mushrooms, undrained
1/2 cup roasted cashews
1/2 cup minced green onions
3 tablespoons flour
1 large clove garlic, minced
1/8 teaspoon ground ginger
Dash cayenne pepper
1/4 cup molasses
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup sherry

Remove bones from chicken, remove skin and cut into 1-inch pieces. Heat oil in skillet. Add chicken and brown. Add mushrooms, cashews, green onions, flour, garlic, ginger, pepper, molasses and soy sauce. Cook, stirring until thickened. Cover, cook over low heat 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sherry, heat. Makes 8 servings. Delicious on rice.

Peanut vegetable soup

1/2 cup julienne carrots
1/2 cup julienne zucchini

1/2 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons flour
5 cups chicken broth
1 cup creamy peanut butter
1 cup light cream or milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Chopped roasted peanuts for garnish

Melt butter in large saucepan or dutch oven. Add carrots, zucchini, bell pepper, cabbage and onion; saute three minutes. Add flour and stir until smooth. Gradually stir in chicken broth, bring to a boil. Stir in peanut butter, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in cream, salt and pepper. Garnish with chopped peanuts. Makes eight to 10 servings.

Pork chops 'n peanut butter gravy

4 1/2 teaspoons chili powder

3 tablespoons chopped peanuts

Combine peanut butter, lemon juice, chili powder and garlic salt. Dissolve bouillon cube in one cup hot water. Brown chops in oil on both sides in large skillet with oven proof handle. Spread chops with 1 tablespoon of peanut butter mixture, reserve remainder. Pour half cup bouillon into pan. Cover and bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 45 minutes. Uncover. Sprinkle chops with chopped nuts and bake an additional 15 minutes uncovered. Remove chops to warm platter; keep warm. Make gravy: measure drippings; add water to make one cup and return to skillet with remaining bouillon. Add reserved peanut butter mixture and beat until smooth; heat to boiling. Makes six servings.

Cozy corner cafe is a charmer

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Most of the items on the menu at Mar-go's Kozy Korner Cafe are reminiscent of an old-fashioned, country-style meal. The new Romulus restaurant specializes in hot roast beef with real mashed potatoes and homemade gravy.

Another popular item is the Friday fish fries, featuring cod and perch. Hot apple dumplings are served for dessert.

"Everything here is home-made ... our soup, our chili," said Gloria Mroz, co-owner. "It's a homestyle restaurant."

Mroz became interested in the downtown restaurant site months ago when a coffee shop in the building closed.

She felt area residents and downtown business people would want a restaurant with a wide variety of items ... "I got a hold of my friend and said, 'Let's go,'" Mroz recalled.

She and co-owner Mary Kosmalksi spent months preparing for the opening, purchasing equipment and enlarging the restaurant area. They also installed a breakfast counter.

Mroz said she once owned a restaurant in northern Michigan and was ready for the new venture.

"It's tough, a lot of long, hard hours."

Already, the restaurant is doing well. The grand opening was in November, and now she said she can count on heavy lunch crowds.

"We're seeing new faces every day," she said.

Besides the convenient location, Mroz said the quality and variety of the food is a draw. Additional menu items include breakfast and lunch specials for senior citizens, home-made biscuits with gravy, pancakes, salads, burgers, kielbasa, Philly steak sandwiches and burritos.

"Our burritos are great. We make our own sauce for them," Mroz said.

Mar-go's Kozy Korner is located at 36601 Goddard Road at Sterling Road. Restaurant hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday; and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

When warmer weather arrives, the cafe will probably be open for breakfast every Sunday, Mroz said.

Farmers to visit Meijer

More than 200 Michigan fruit growers will be in 46 Meijer produce sections Friday and Saturday.

The growers will answer consumer questions about fruit growing, varieties and nutrition.

Consumers also will be able to sample a new flavor of apples called Empire. The Empire is gaining popularity with Michigan growers because it is ideally suited for the Michigan climate. It is a genetic cross between a Red Delicious and McIntosh.

Little Ceasers
opens in Romulus

Little Ceasers Pizza recently opened its second store in Romulus.

The new restaurant is located at 27457 Eureka Road in the Junior Plaza Shopping Center.

In honor of the opening, Little Ceasers donated $500 to the Romulus Goodfellows.

Meijer launches
Earth campaign

Meijer Inc. recently kicked off a campaign to foster environmental awareness, entitled "We Care About the Earth We Share."

Meijer chairman Fred Meijer said, "As a retailer, we serve as a purchasing agent for our customers, and as such we are in a unique position of being able to provide our customers with helpful information about the care of our environment."

One example of the new program is a decision by Meijer to switch from styrofoam egg cartons to ones made of recycled paper. Meijer estimates that 300 tons of recycled paper will be used to make the six million pulp egg cartons sold annually at 50 stores.

Stores also will have produce sections featuring organically-grown food.

"The company will strive to make shopping more convenient for those customers looking for environmental alternatives," Meijer said. "These options could involve either the packaging or the product itself."

Products will be identified with "Earth Friendly" tags.

Meijer stores also will carry Nappies, one of the first ultra-absorbent, biodegradable, 100 percent chlorine bleach-free disposable diapers.

The stores also will have brochures that give information about the environment and proper waste disposal. Educational videos also are available for area schools.

Snowbirds begin migration

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
ANP Belleville City Editor

As the temperatures hover around the freezing mark, Michigan "snowbirds" begin to make plans for their annual migrations to warmer climates.

"Florida, Mexico and the Bahamas are popular vacation spots now," said Gary Sampson, owner of Adventure Travel, in Belleville. "There also is space available on cruise lines this month at good rates. Travelers will find many good values available for all types of vacations."

People who are interested in booking a summer vacation, should do so now when there are discounts available.

— Gary Sampson
Adventure Travel

Sampson advised travelers to take advantage of low air fares to many locations in the south and west, especially Florida. However, he cautioned, increased fuel costs will boost the price of future air travel when surcharges are added to some ticket prices.

"People who are interested in booking a summer vacation, should do so now when there are discounts available. For example, there are good discounts available for summer trips to Europe," Sampson said. "A good rule to remember in all instances is to plan early. Often there are better prices available for those who make their plans early and book their travel arrangements early."

Double chocolate oatmeal cookies

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 cup butter, softened
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/3 cup dry cocoa

- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups quick-cooking oats
- 1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate chips

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Mix sugar, butter, egg, water and vanilla. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls about 2 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake until almost no indentation remains when touched, about 10 to 12 minutes. Immediately remove from cookie sheet. Makes about 5 1/2 dozen cookies.
